And I can name them all
Winter, Spring, Summer and Autumn, that's Fall!

An apple from a tree?
They're red, green or yellow
And all look good to me.

An apple from a tree?
You can bite it, cut it,
Smash it, sauce it
Apples. Yummy!

Everybody Has a Family

Everybody has a family. Golly gee, a family.
Everybody has a family
And they're not always the same
I have a mom and a dad
A sister and a brother and I'm glad
The girl who lives next door
Has a mom and no one more
The boy who lives up the street
Lives with his dad and his uncle Pete
Aunts, uncles and grandparents, too
Will sometimes live with you.
You can see family every day
Some family members live far away
But whether near or apart
Family lives in your heart

Itsy Bitsy

The itsy bitsy spider doesn't look so small
But the itsy bitsy spider won't hurt you at all!
You've heard of itsy bitsy and the spider on the floor
Eating bugs and spinning webs; really nothing more
A spider has no interest in you!
The spider saw Miss Muffet and then he went away
Charlotte spun a web so Wilbur could stay
A spider has no interest in you!

When you see red, nod your head

When you see blue, say "Achoo"

When you see yellow, play the cello.

Happy Holidays to You

Happy Hanukah. Merry Christmas.

Happy New Year, too.

We want to wish a happy holiday to you.

Santa visits houses of all girls and boys.

And underneath the Christmas tree, he leaves toys!

Play "Jingle Bells" on kazoos

At my house we play dreidle and eat latkes at night.

And then on the menorrah a candle we light.

Happy Hanukah. Merry Christmas.

Happy New Year, too.

We want to wish a happy holiday to you.

It's a New Year

It's a new year and a new day

Time for work, time for play

It's a new day, and a new year

Repeat with kids singing to me

(We're so glad that you are here)

The Sky

What's up in the sky?

What's so way up high?

The sun that shines so bright.

The Little Red Hen

This is the story of the little, red hen

Who wanted to bake some bread

She saw some friends in the barnyard

And to them she said,

"Who would like to have some bread?"

"I would" oinked the pig; "I would" quacked the duck

"I would" purred the cat; "Well, alright"

And then she said "Who will mix the flour?"

"Not I" oinked the pig; "Not I" quacked the duck

"Not I" purred the cat; Well, alright. I'll do it myself!"

"Who will knead the dough?" (same answers)

"Who will bake the bread?" (same answers)

The little, red hen did the chores alone

And she baked the bread

She saw her friends in the barnyard

And to them she said,

"Who would like to eat some bread?"

"I would" oinked the pig; "I would" quacked the duck;

"I would" purred the cat. "No, you won't!

I'll eat it myself!"

The Leprechaun

The Leprechaun, with his little hammer

Goes tick-tack-tick on a shoe

Don't turn your back on a leprechaun

Or he'll pull a trick on you!

Some try to catch a leprechaun to get his pot of gold

Because they are so tiny, its hard to get a hold

And if you finally catch one, be careful what you say

Cause all the leprechaun wants to do is get a way!
