

Artists Who Give Permission for Classroom Use (as long as credit is given)

List compiled by Maryann "Mar." Harman
With help from Childrens' Music Network

When should credit be given:

1. When teacher presents song to students she says who wrote it;
2. If the lyrics are printed anywhere, or song is used in a video, songwriter name is shown and if possible copyright info at bottom;
3. If and when the song is performed in assembly, the name of the songwriter is said, or if there is a program the name is shown; and
4. If the song is shared with other teachers, anywhere, songwriter credit should be written or verbally said.
