Who is Mar.?

Maryann "Mar." Harman has a BA in Music, Level I Orff Certification and a Masters in Education with an emphasis in Early Childhood. Mar. has over 35 years of classroom experience from early childhood through college and adult education. Along with producing 35+ recordings (one a Parents' Choice Award Winner, John Lennon Songwriting Award, KMA Award and two other National Awards), Mar. maintains a classroom presence with a diversity of levels and is frequently asked to conduct workshops, teacher trainings and keynotes for many state, national and international organizations. She is the host of the Music and Learning Interviews available on her website.

Philosophy

Participating in music should :

- Be stress-free, promoting good social growth and enhancing self-esteem
- Focus on participation and not on the level of performance
- Reflect on people and expose children to all cultures making them more accepting individuals
- Instill in child desire to keep music in their lives forever

Classes / Instructor Licensing

Music with Mar. provides activities for adults and children to participate in together that aid in development. The program does not 'teach' music; but uses music to teach. Songs, written by Mar. Harman for the program, teach basic social, motor, language and cognitive skills and are based on brain research.

Qualified individuals are trained and licensed to hold Music with Mar. classes. Many instructors are "stay at home moms" (or dads) looking for a way to stay home with their child, still teach and make extra money. To learn about licensing opportunities, write to:

Collaborations

I Love You Rituals Book and CDs -

Lovingly written by Dr. Becky Bailey with music by Mar. Harman to create connections designed to strengthen adult-child relationships. Many are re-worded Mother Goose nursery rhymes. Rituals have been proven to increase attention, decrease power struggles and promote language skills. I Love You Rituals build lifelong bonds.

Peter Alsop - "Uh-Oh!"

Award-winning Peter Alsop and Bill Harley, team up again and asked Mar. along. When Peter gets hassled by life, Fifi the Age Fairy puts him back in daycare and Mar. is his teacher. These songs help to validate the emotions of preschoolers. Favorites are "Spin Around", "Rabbit on My Shoulders" and "Poop Goes the Weasel".

Educational Workshops

Mar.'s Workshops are based on over 30 yrs classroom experience (preK through college); They are holistic in nature and, because of her dual degrees (Music/Education), she combines brain research findings with music/movement. Multiculturalism is always considered, addressing those who are ELL. Philosophy is not to teach music, but to "use music to teach". Can be presented for ALL levels (PreK-College).

For a full listing of all Mar.'s workshops, please visit her website:

To see Mar. in action, visit her YouTube page. (accessible from her website).

“Mar. combines her degrees in music education and early childhood education with her talented voice and gift of reaching children to inspire and teach us all how to enjoy music and learning. Her work is a gift to children and those who care for them.”

Dr. Becky Bailey - Author of “I Love You Rituals” and “Easy to Love Difficult to Discipline”

“THANK YOU MAR. for helping us remember how special it is to be a parent.”

Kelly Cheek - Parent and Music with Mar. class participant

“Mar. touches the hearts of children with her music. She educates about important issues in the very best way, with laughter and song, encouraging children to participate in the joy of the process.”

Dr. Peter Alsop - Nationally known children’s recording artist/educator

Maryann “Mar.” Harman Harman is a dynamic and exciting musician and teacher. Her workshops for teachers contain not only easy to learn, fun songs for young children, but also contain pertinent information about brain research. She is an expert in not just entertaining, but teaching, giving tips on how to involve the children in the music and how to use the music to bring about learning in all domains. She infuses literacy, social, emotional skills and mathematics in her presentations.
