

Music with Mar.
unFROGettable Birthday Parties

Music with Mar. birthday parties cost $150 for 45 minutes or $125 for 30 minutes. In order to book a party, the child must have attended at least one music class. This is to guarantee that the child likes the music.

The party includes any activities from Music with Mar. class which the child requests.

If there is a parade, it is done at the end of the music activities. The children march around the house and to the birthday table, where they sit down for cake. (This puts all the instruments back in one place and has them seated for food/cake.)

At this time, the traditional "Happy Birthday" song could be sung. Sometimes parents purchase kazoos and Happy Birthday is played on kazoos.*

Music activities should start 15 minutes after the beginning of the party (ie. invitation says 10; music starts at 10:15). This prevents the children from becoming involved in other activities. At that point, it is difficult to get their attention.

All parties are usually indoors and should be in a room, which is free of distraction (toys, etc.). If the party is outdoors, it is best in an area where parents can easily keep them from running off

Parents should know that they are going to participate with their child in the activities.

We mostly want to make sure the party is unFROGettable.
